

KAP AFRICAN AMERICAN HISTORY:
FROM SLAVERY TO THE MODERN BLACK EXPERIENCE

2015-2016
Northland High School
Mr. Kevin G. Tooson

COURSE DESCRIPTION AND OBJECTIVES

The KAP African American Studies course will attempt to take a glimpse into the Black in experience in America through the lenses of The African American Odyssey, W.E.B. DuBois, Eldridge Cleaver, Shelby Steele, and John McWhorter. Each of these scholars have written about different aspects of the black experience during different time periods in history. We will begin with a brief glimpse into slavery gives us a look at the beginning of the Black experience in America. DuBois' book gives a look at African American culture from the end of the slave period through the dawn of the civil rights movement. Eldridge Cleaver's writings gives us a look into the dusk of the Civil Rights movement, and the age of the Revolutionary leadership. Shelby Steele and John McWhorter gives us a modern day perspective on the diversity and challenges that face black people today!

The purpose of this course is to give you the student an opportunity to debunk myths, and critically examine what the Black Experience in America is. We must put away stereotypes, and typecasts caricatures that the media put forward. We must examine the Black Experience!

RESPONSIBILITIES

Each student is required to do the course readings, answer the questions about the readings, participate in class discussions, and conduct themselves in a positive manner. There is one rule in this class. RESPECT! Respect you, each other, the teacher, and the course! This is a course intended to produce higher level thinking. Take this seriously.

Class meetings: Students are expected to have read the assigned material, and to be fully prepared to discuss the same. The class participation grade will be based on student participation in classroom, which will include a one-page response paper on the major themes of each Friday's readings.

Research Paper:

Each student will provide the instructor with a proposal for a double-spaced, 7-10 page research paper. Students may choose any topic which is relevant to the issues and time period under examination. Papers must have a clear thesis and use both primary and secondary source materials. All sources should be cited in footnotes; footnotes and all other matters of style must conform to the Chicago Manual of Style (14th ed.) or A Manual for Writers of Term Papers, Theses and Dissertations (6th ed.) by Kate L. Turabian. (Both are available at the Olin Library). Students must also provide an annotated bibliography describing the sources that will be consulted. Students will write their papers using a 12 point Times New Roman font, with page margins of one inch on the top, bottom and both sides of each page. Each paper must have a cover page; each page must be numbered, and the entire paper must be stapled or bound in some fashion. Grading of this paper will be based on the clarity of the thesis, the construction of the argument and grammar.
