

MAKE THE MOST OF THE KENYON CAREER NETWORK

ABOUT THE KCN

Alumni are eager to share their experience and expertise with current students. The Kenyon Career Network (KCN) lets students message alumni and request advisory calls to learn about careers, industries, graduate school programs, ethics in the workplace, and more. Meanwhile, students develop the networking skills needed to succeed in the modern job market. Here's how it works:

Students join and create a profile to access our network of alumni who've volunteered as advisors

Students search by industry, job title, location, and more to find alumni who can help them

Students and alumni connect by sending messages or requesting phone call for advice

Members join communities to share files, group discussions, and connect with like-minded alumni

CAREER PREP IN THE CLASSROOM

- Encourage students you work with to join the KCN and request a phone call with an alum
- Add an informational interview requirement to your syllabus
- Add the KCN to a list of classroom resources on your syllabus or website
- Present the network as a next step for career exploration for students who are unsure about their future or how to get started

STAY CONNECTED TO ALUMNI

- Reconnect with past students and stay in touch with those approaching graduation
- Lead a community in the KCN to post files, share events, start discussions, and facilitate connections among students and alumni
- Invite alumni to join your class as guest speakers by using the "speaking on a panel or in a classroom" search filter
